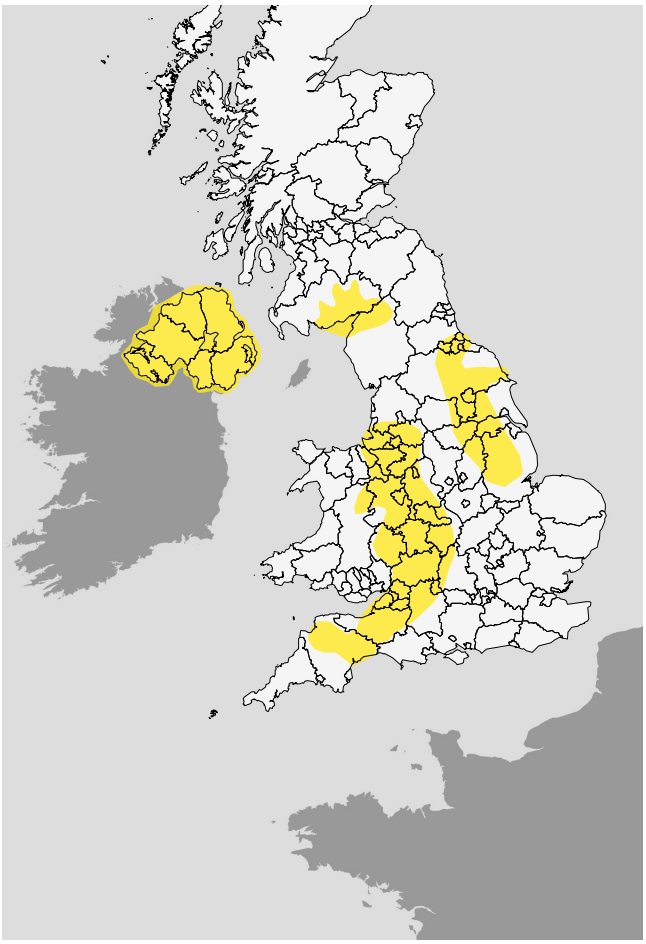
Yellow warning
Ice & Fog

Between
16:00 Sun 11 Dec 2022 and
11:00 Mon 12 Dec 2022



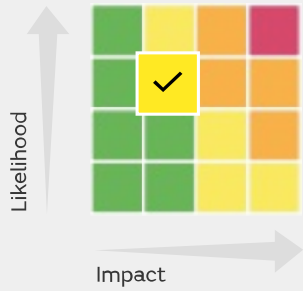
Freezing fog and patches of ice likely to lead to some slow or difficult journeys on Sunday night and Monday morning.

What to expect

- Some icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths
- Slower journey times with delays to bus and train services possible
- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- There is a chance of delays or cancellations to flights

Further details

Freezing fog is expected to become more extensive overnight and could produce significantly reduced visibility to 50-100 metres at times, as well as patchy ice on untreated surfaces. Additionally, snowfall that is now easing near and over the Cotswolds, as well as isolated showers elsewhere may lead to some ice developing on untreated surfaces. Although becoming less widespread and thick by lunchtime, some places may be affected by fog for the remainder of the day, particularly in Northern Ireland and northern England.



✓ Medium likelihood of low impacts
